Further highlighting the potential, plans were previously approved for a thoughtfully designed four-bedroom, two-bathroom kit home plus shed. While the permits have since expired, the plans remain available as a valuable guide for those looking to bring their own vision to life (STCA). The proposed layout was carefully positioned to retain a generous backyard ideal for entertaining, gardening or simply enjoying the open space.

A small garden shed and electrical box are already established, providing a helpful head start toward creating your future country retreat.
